

Connect with the architecture profession.

Network with people and build relationships that will inspire you. More than 200 AIA chapters give you instant access to peers, indispensable connections, and future collaborators who share your love for design.

Connect around practice areas.

Join an AIA Knowledge Community to share resources, collaborate on solutions, and learn from experts, leaders, and creative thinkers.

Connect with your local community.

Get to know your local architecture community through your AIA chapter, which hosts virtual events, conferences, award programs, and volunteer opportunities.

You'll also enhance your personal brand and professional standing by using our members-only designation.

AIA connects you like no other organization can.

Have the career you want. Tools, education, support, and the industry's best network help you launch and thrive in your career.

Optimize your practice. Industry-best products give you an edge in business, streamline your work, minimize your risk, and connect you to an expert network.

Champion architects & the profession. Government advocacy, a campaign to fight climate change and inequities in the built environment, and public awareness efforts influence meaningful change and create a better business landscape for architects.

AIA supports your career, your practice, and the architecture profession.
