

Sponsor an Architect In the Making

About Architects In the Making

Architects In the Making (AIM) is AIA Miami's youth educational program supported by local volunteer leading architects. Since 2006, AIM helped inspire and shape the next generation of architects and designers.

Hosted at the University of Miami School of Architecture, AIM provides a hands-on summer camp for 8 - 16 year old's.

Kids get to interact with architects, learn about the fundamentals of design, have fun building projects, and model them in software like SketchUp and Minecraft!

Support Future Architects

This program would not be possible without the generous support of local firms like MC Harry Associates, Ramos Martinez Architects, and Hinkle Design Studio.

Sponsors benefit from exposure to our vast community of partners, supporters, and students.
